DETAILED ACTION

This Office Action is in response to the Remarks filed May 09, 2005. Claims 1-33, 39-82 and 87-102 are pending and are examined herein.

35 USC § 103 Rejection Maintained

Claims 1-33, 38-82 and 87-102 stand rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Blankenburg et al. (WO/99/04750 translation) in view of Firstenberg et al. (USPN 5297566) for the reasons set forth in the Office Action dated February 08, 2005.

Applicant argues, "the standard [of obviousness] is not whether the references can be combined or modified – this 'this does not render the resultant combination obvious unless the prior art also suggests the desirability of the combination.'" This argument is not persuasive because, as set forth in the previous Office Action, "[i]t is prima facie obvious to combine two compositions each of which is taught by the prior art to be useful for the same purpose, in order to form a third composition to be used for the very same purpose.... [T]he idea of combining them flows logically from their having been individually taught in the prior art." In re Kerkhoven, 626 F.2d 846, 850, 205 USPQ 1069, 1072 (CCPA 1980). The fact that Firstenberg et al. does not exemplify a second film-forming polymer is not persuasive because Firstenberg et al. specifically teaches that at least one film-forming polymer may be used in the invention disclosed therein. Accordingly, the skilled artisan would have recognized multiple film-forming polymers as suitable for hair setting compositions. It is well established that consideration of a reference is not limited to the preferred embodiments or working examples, but extends to the entire disclosure for what it fairly teaches, when viewed in light of the admitted knowledge in the art, to a person of ordinary skill in the art. In re Boe, 355 F.2d 961, 148 USPQ 507 (CCPA 1966); In re Lamberti, 545 F.2d 747, 19USPQ 279 (CCPA 1976); In re Fracalossi, 681 F.2d 792, 215 USPQ 569 (CCPA 1982); In re Kaslow, 707 F.2d 1366, 217 USPQ 1089 (Fed. Cir. 1983).

Furthermore, Applicant's arguments that In re Kerkhoven are not applicable to the instant case are not persuasive. Blankenburg et al. (pp. 10, 13) and Firstenberg et al. (Abstract; col. 2, lines 41-56) both teach the polymers disclosed therein as hair setting agents. Accordingly, it is Examiner's position that it would have been obvious to combine them in a composition, as claimed, for the very same purpose.

Applicant's arguments that the disclosure of Firstenberg "teaches more about the mechanical properties of its invention, than about the components of the composition used in the method and device" are not persuasive because Firstenberg et al. teaches the compositions and uses as set forth in the Office Action dated February 08, 2005, regardless of what specific aims or motivations the Firstenberg et al. may have had.

Applicant again argues that Blankenburg et al. teaches away from the claimed combination. Examiner does not agree that a person of ordinary skill in the art, upon reading the reference, would be discouraged from combining the vinylpyrrolidone/vinyl acetate/vinyl propionate copolymer of Firstenberg et al. with the polymers of Blankenburg et al. to arrive at a hair setting composition. Blankenburg et al. teaches that the problems associated with vinyl lactam polymers are also known in the art to be remedied by plasticizers. Thus, one of ordinary skill in the art would have recognized a combination of a vinyl lactam polymer and a plasticizer could accomplish the same results as achieved by the polymers of Blankenburg et al. Accordingly, the combination of the two polymers (+ plasticizer) would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art. Please note that the compositions of Firstenberg et al. are taught to comprise plasticizers (col. 2, lines 64-68; Example 9).

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
